Revocation of Allied Engineering Group W.L.L. Individual International Telecommunications Services License issued by the Telecommunications Regulatory Authority.

On 19 January 2010, the Telecommunications Regulatory Authority (“the Authority”) of the Kingdom of Bahrain received a request from Allied Engineering Group W.L.L. (“AEG”) to cancel its Individual International Telecommunications Services (“ISL”) License.

The Authority is satisfied that AEG does not provide international telecommunications services and therefore does not require an ISL to operate.

Should any person object to this revocation, please notify the Authority in writing with justified reasons no later than 22 May 2011.
